

A BIG NORTH END DEAL

Cleo Hopkins Buys Land and Buildings Between Rockland and James Streets

The largest real estate transaction in Rockland in some time was completed yesterday through the Elmer C. Davis Agency, when Cleo W. Hopkins of Hopkins Garage bought the land and buildings located between Rockland and James streets, on Main street, from Clifton A. Hamilton.

The deal includes the building occupied by Eastern Tire Company at the corner of Rockland and Main streets; the old Gregory block which was once an apartment house and which has been used by Hopkins for several years as a body and fender shop; the entire garage property occupied by Hopkins since 1931; the Beggs Bakery and a warehouse, used by the garage, on the East side of James street.

The area concerned extends 276 feet on Main street and goes back on Rockland street for a distance of 76 feet and on James street for 158 feet.

Eastern Tire Company and Beggs Bakery are to remain in their present locations, according to Mr. Hopkins.

Mr. Hopkins, oldest Pontiac dealer in Maine in number of years association with General Motors, took the agency for the line in 1928 and added Buick in 1932. Coming here from Bath in 1928, he established a garage business in the Hix block at the junction of Limerock and White streets and moved to his present location in 1931.

At present he has 24 regular employees with a weekly payroll which tops $1400. All are factory trained men who have repeatedly attended the training schools held by General Motors in New England in order to constantly offer the best service possible to customers.

The stock of parts regularly carried is the largest in the State for both lines of cars and one which allows the garage to constantly supply other dealers throughout the State with parts needed for replacement work.

In addition to the Rockland plant, Hopkins has operated the Bayview Garage in Camden, since 1938.

The sale includes all buildings leased in the past from Hamilton by Hopkins, plus the bakery and the tire shop—five in all.

CITY EMPLOYEES ASK INCREASE

Police Resignations Effective May 15—Council To Meet Firemen Monday Night

The demand for additional wages is spreading throughout the ranks of city employees this morning, workers in other departments adding their signatures to those of the police and firemen.

Yesterday, papers were in circulation throughout the various departments which asked for a wage increase to allow them to meet the present day living costs.

The members of the Department of Public Works are said to have signed to a man and the paper to have been delivered to the City Building by one of the department. Workers within the city building have stated that their signatures were affixed to a similar, or the same paper. Whether or not this document has been delivered to either the City Manager or any member of the City Council cannot be determined. However, it exists this morning and will be delivered if it has not already.

Council Chairman Osgood Gilbert states this morning that there has not been an official meeting of the Council to discuss the situation. Queried as to his stand on the matter of police resignations which become effective May 15, he said that there was nothing to be done at this time and would make no statement as to Council plans relative to the police.

Gilbert did say that attempts were being made to arrange a meeting between the Council and the members of the fire department Monday night to discuss the petition for a 10 percent increase in wages which they presented Wednesday.

The entire matter has been the subject of lively discussion throughout the city the past two days and continues to hold top interest. Police Chief Lillenthal states that his entire force will continue to carry out the duties of the department as usual—until the day their resignations become effective. A flurry was caused Thursday when word got around that the police would overlook traffic violations and minor offenders in general. Where the story originated is not known, but the putting of the cruiser car on day patrol soon stopped racing cars. Drunks and street loungers were not long in finding the same regulations prevailed as before.

It is known that a great many persons plan to attend the budget meeting of the City Council to be held in the Municipal Court Room

Pirates Shaping Up

Will Have Their First Regular Practice Sunday Afternoon

At Community Park Sunday the Rockland Pirates will hold their first regular practice at 2 o'clock. Any players who would like to try for the team are asked to be on hand ready to practice.

Players who were on the Pirate roster last season and are expected back this season are Barlow, Miller, Billings, Chisholm, Ellis, Lacrosse, French, McLellan, Weymouth and Duff.

Newcomers who have already worked out are Todd, Haveren, Brown and Hodgkins. Oscar Flint who caught for the High School a few years ago, and for the past three years has played for a Navy team, is expected to greatly strengthen the catching department, along with Hodgkins who caught for Ellsworth last year.

Todd, a pitcher, Brown, a first baseman, and Haveren, an outfielder, have been working out and are already in good shape. Weymouth who pitched some for the Pirates last Summer and who is currently hurling for the High School should be a big help to the Pirate hurlers this Summer with another year of experience.

The Pirates wish to thank Edgar Robbins, Cliff Melvin and Charlie Bicknell for so generously donating new equipment to start the season.

In the City Building May 10 at 7.30 p. m. That questions relative to the salary situation, the police, firemen, city employees in general and the alleged division of the Council members themselves will be asked is more or less a foregone conclusion.

New Legion Building

When? Where? What? Discussed At Last Night's Meeting

American Legion members met last night at the Elks Home and appointed a committee of seven members who will investigate the advisability of rebuilding on the Limerock street location against obtaining a new location. Charged with responsibility are Ervin Curtis, chairman, Edward Newhall, Edward C. Moran, Jr., Vance Norton, John H. McLean, John Parsons and Alan Gordon. Discussion of possible new quarters ranged from the construction of a new fireproof building in the city and even to the Country Club. No action was taken, other than to appoint the committee which is to report at a meeting in May.

Appointed to the Memorial Day committee were Chester Arbo, Gerald U. Margeson, Edward Newhall, Earl Alden, James Lindsey and Vernon Gerrish.

Selected to obtain temporary meeting quarters were Donald Kelsey, Nelson Crockett and Laurence Hamlin.

The nominating committee to select a list of candidates for officers of the Post for next year comprises Hector G. Staples, Chester Arbo and Gerald U. Margeson.

Rifle Club Tonight

The Eastern Division Rifle Club meets at 7.30 tonight at the home of Otis Albee, 49 Main street. An invitation is extended to all interested persons.

The Knox Business College will open July 1, under direction of Lena K. Sargent. Enrollments are coming along in a most satisfactory manner for both day and evening school. The location of the school will be announced in the immediate future.

FAMILIES MADE DESTITUTE

Fires In North Washington and East Union Leave Them In Sad State Of Affairs—An S. O. S. Call

Knox County has two cases of families made destitute by fire in the past 10 days one with three small children, and the other with seven—both left with only the clothing on their backs at the time of the fires—no funds, no extra clothing, no furniture, or even a home.

The first is the family of James Belcher of North Washington with his wife and seven children; Ann, 12; David, 11; Anna Jean, 9; George, 7; Teddy, 6; Frank, 3; and Jerome, 22 months. They are housed with relatives in Washington and, according to reports, are living in a five room house in which there are 19 persons, including themselves.

The second family, smaller, but just as much in need, is that of Kenneth Bennett of the Wotton's Mill road in East Union.

They were burned out completely about 10 a. m. Tuesday and saved only the clothing they were wearing, a small radio and the baby carriage of the daughter. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Bennett there are three children, Norma, 6; Barry, 4; and Ronald, 2.

It isn't a case of two families just having a bad fire, and having something left of their home and furnishings on which to build. These people have just exhausted their cash reserve, their war bonds and personal papers as well. The Belchers suffered the same losses.

These people need food, clothing, furniture, stoves, bedding and all the necessary articles for the operation of a proper home for their youngsters—they need it desperately.

Local groups in the two communities have already started raising funds but the effort must be countywide if it is to be sufficient to meet the urgent need. Red Cross and Salvation Army have made initial gifts of $50 and $100 respectively, but additional hundreds are needed, plus all the other things to give these people a new start in life.

Commissioner of Public Welfare Joshua N. Southard of Rockland stated that anything that his department could do would be done immediately. Clothing is already available for both families from the department's stock of donated articles.

Southard recalled the generous gifts of Union people last Fall during the fire disaster when huge quantities of clothing and bedding came out of the little community for fire victims and then what was not needed was donated to the department for distribution to Rockland needy.

He offered the use of his department's storage facilities to receive clothing, bedding, dishes and furniture for both families which would immediately be delivered to them. These articles may be sent to the Rockland City Building, or a phone call will arrange for a truck to pick them up.

Commander Isaac L. Hammond of the Knox Chapter of American Red Cross will act on a committee, together with Southard, First Selectman Edward A. Matthews of Union, First Selectman Archie Lenfest of Washington and Mrs. Doris Payson of Union.

Funds may be sent to either Lenfest, Matthews, Hammond or Mrs. Payson. All funds received will be turned over to Mrs. Payson who is manager of the Knox County Trust Company Branch Bank in Union. She will disburse the funds in proportion to the number of persons in each family. However, those persons wishing to donate to either family may specify which shall receive their gift and it will be delivered directly to them by Mrs. Payson.

In the Rockland, Thomaston, St. George, Rockport, Camden, and Friendship areas, household goods in general, bedding and clothing may be delivered to Southard at the city building in Rockland either in person or by mail or express. In Union area, Mr. Matthews will receive such articles. In Washington, Mr. Lenfest stands ready to accept in behalf of the homeless families. Every conceivable thing needed to furnish a home is needed by both of the families.

As for clothing in the Bennett family, the father is about a size 38 with the mother taking possibly a size 18. The children would take clothing perhaps a little larger than usual for their ages. The Belchers can use boys and girls clothing from age 12 downward to garments for the 22 month old youngster. Mr. Belcher is estimated to take size 40 clothing, while his wife is about size 16.

The ladies of the East Union Grange will give a public meat loaf supper followed by beans and dancing at the East Union Grange Hall next Wednesday night at 6 o'clock for the benefit of the Bennett family.

On mail and express shipments, save time by putting on your return address with a rubber stamp. Orders received at The Courier-Gazette.

BEGGING YOUR PARDON

In spite of extra pages in today's edition we find ourselves swamped for room, and obliged to omit articles of local value. They will appear in Tuesday's paper.

The removal of the Christian Science reading room to the new Farnsworth block left a vacancy which was promptly taken by William Hemenway, who lost his newsstand and candy store in Tuesday's fire. His new quarters are nearly opposite the First Baptist Church.

Raymond H. Duff of the Post Office staff is being welcomed on the street after being confined to the house nine weeks by illness.

Fred C. Black is not a member of the Rockland Fire Department, but he is intensely loyal to it and deeply interested in everything concerning it. During the cold and blustery early hours of fighting the Legion Hall fire it was Mr. Black who personally went to a local restaurant and bought a huge pot of steaming coffee which he served to the shivering firemen. Incidentally it was Mr. Black's sharp eye that spotted the bulging third floor wall and his voice raised in warning Hoseman Robshaw just as Charles W. McIntosh shouted his warning from a nearer spot.

Corporal Charles Simpson, former Rockland police officer, has been enlisted in the Army and is now stationed at Fort Hancock, N. J. as a member of the police unit of the Disciplinary Barracks Branch at Fort Hancock.

William R. Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Hopkins of North Haven, and a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity at the University of Maine, has been appointed to the planning committee for the general Spring elections which will be held on the University campus, May 11. Pauline W. True, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. True of Hope, has been named a candidate for the Portland Club watch award for a Senior woman.

James M. Brown of Boston, who has been designated as director of the William A. Farnsworth Library and Art Museum, is in the city looking over his new domain, and will locate here permanently by the middle of May. He announces that the public opening of the library and museum will take place in August. Mr. Brown received his B.A. degree from Amherst College in 1939, and M. A. degree from Harvard in 1946.

The deadline for applications for vehicles at government expense under the "autos for amputees" program is June 30. Eligible veterans should submit their applications to VA at least 15 days prior to the deadline, to allow ample processing period. Application forms and assistance are available at any VA office. The law provides an automobile or other conveyance, at a cost not to exceed $1600, for any World War II veteran who lost, or lost the use of, one or both legs at or above the ankle as the result of service-connected injuries, provided he may be licensed to operate the vehicle.

Knox Lodge members planning to attend the Statewide meeting in Lewiston-Auburn Saturday, please be at the hall not later than 12:30, as a bus will be leaving at this time. All those who have not made arrangements for this trip please communicate with Kenneth Le Gage, Noble Grand.

Benjamin Glosky ("Uncle Ben") received the silver candlesticks offered as award in the recent Rockland Chapter of Hadassah benefit.

Three busloads of young people from the Rockland area will leave this city at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning for Boston where they will attend the youth rally "Word of Life" at Boston Garden.

Justice Percy A. Clarke of Ellsworth comes back to Rockland next week to preside over the May term of Knox County Superior Court, and will be accompanied by court stenographer Fred Hayden. It is not much use to prophesy the length of the term, but Clerk Milton M. Griffin, sees very little civil business, a possibility of two criminal trials, no naturalizations, but "plenty" of divorces. The traverse jury will report Thursday. Court opens Tuesday at 11 a. m., fast time. Court operates on standard time.

Attorney Christopher S. Roberts, who has been gravely ill with pleuro-pneumonia is reported as more comfortable this morning.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist Church recently elected officers for the coming six months. Elvira Johnson led the first part of the Sunday service and the installation of officers was conducted by Rev. J. Charles MacDonald. Each new officer was given two verses of Romans 12, the C. E. chapter, and it was suggested that he memorize his passage in order to more fully fill the office assigned to him. Officers are: President, Fred Copeland; vice president and Look-out committee, Nina Johnson; secretary, Barbara Clark; treasurer, Albert Sprague; Prayer Meeting committee, Elvira Johnson; Missionary committee, Raymond Pennington; Social committee, Larry Bell, Nelson Dorr, Jeanne Merrill, and Gloria Sewall; music committee, Jane Pendleton; publicity and art committee, Janice Stanley and Elsie Rogers; Sergeants-at-arms, Lewis and William Edwards.

The former office building of Snow Marine Company, which has been at the wharf at General Seaford Shipyard back through the days of Snow Shipyard and I. L. Snow Company was moved on the high tide yesterday to Leonard Cove. The building will serve as an office for the newly formed Snow Marine Basin in which Bertram Snow, Maurice McKusie and Ralph Cowan are partners. The reliable old harbor pilot boat Hugh, and a scow served to move the structure safely to its new location.

The regular meeting of the Rockland Softball Ass'n. will be held on May 4 at 7:30 p. m. at Rackliff & Witham's, Public Landing. Official business including entrance fees will be taken up at this time. All members of the Association are requested to be present.—adv.

The Catholic Supper

Patronized By 450, But the Nice Eatables Stood the Strain

Approximately 450 enjoyed the supper, prepared and sponsored by the ladies of St. Bernard's Church in Odd Fellows Hall Saturday night. Mrs. Phyllis Grispi was general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Frances Bellmore, chairman of soliciting and Mrs. Stella Ellingswood, dining-room chairman. Miss Octavia Ferrero and George Robshaw collected tickets at the door.

The dining-room was particularly attractive, each table depicting a month of the year. Members of the Sodality of Our Lady of Lourdes who served as waitresses were: Patricia Smith, Louise Eagan, Beverly Brewer, Peggy Grispi, Elizabeth Carr, Mary Gustin, Elaine St. Peter, Josephine Gustin, Elizabeth Robshaw, Marie Robshaw, Marilyn Fitzgerald, Dorothy Wotton, Jeanette Escorsio, Eunice Pettis, Mary Jean Glendinning, Joanne Gardner, Dolores Galiano, Patricia Valente, Mary LaGrassa and Carol Kent.

Miss Elizabeth Robshaw was the winner of a luncheon set and Mrs. Florence Eagan won a cake. The latter was a replica of St. Bernard's Church and was the handiwork of Buddie Miller. Chances on these two articles were sold by Jacqueline Grispi and Mrs. Ann Escorsio.

At Boothbay Harbor yesterday the Rockland High Tigers, with a last inning rally, defeated Boothbay Harbor 7 to 6, and at Thomaston, Lincoln Academy beat the home team 7 to 6 in a League game. Reports deferred.

The Fire Department has received a 50-foot ladder as a loan from the Bath Fire Department to replace the one crushed at the American Legion fire when the third story and roof crashed into the street seconds after the ladder had been cleared of men. Fire Chief Van E. Russell states that the department lost $1000 in salvage blankets, ladders and other equipment damaged in fighting the blaze.

All ex-service men comprise the Billy Hills Band which plays tonight for dancing at the Ocean View Ballroom. Billy, himself, is leader of the five-piece music making, and saxophonist as well; supported by piano, drums, electric guitar and trumpet. This group has played during the Winter at the Community Center in Bath. Their specialty is modern music, with Billy doing vocals, and request numbers cheerfully supplied. Dancers are enthusiastic over their teasing rhythm.

Rockland Golf Club

Kennedy Crane Heads New Organization—Changes At the Course

The Knox County Golf Club, having been sold to Justice Frank A. Tirrell, Jr., a group of citizens, (golfers and non-golfers alike) feel that a golf club is a distinct asset to the city. When much smaller places, such as Boothbay Harbor, Damariscotta, Bath, Belfast, Camden and Brunswick all support golf clubs it would be unfortunate for Rockland to lose its organization.

With this thought in mind a group has formed the Rockland Golf Club, Judge Tirrell having kindly co-operated by allowing the use of the present lay-out at an extremely small rental.

The holes will be slightly re-arranged. That which is now No. 6 will become No. 1. Entrance will be made on a road off Maverick street and plainly marked, leading to the present sixth tee.

It will be necessary to lay out a parking place and build a locker house with toilets up near the sixth tee, and, of course, this will require money.

The Club is fortunate in having Arthur Flanagan to act as operator and pro. The dues will be $35, plus federal tax for men (an increase of only $5 over last year); family membership $55 plus federal tax; single ladies' membership, $20 plus federal tax.

In order to raise the money to build the locker house the Club is going to sell Certificates of Indebtedness at $10 each. Male members or family members must buy at least one of these to join the club; single ladies are not required to. It is hoped that many of those interested will buy more than one.

It is also planned that the operator will pay off these certificates at the rate of 20% a year, or sooner.

The organization of the Rockland Golf Club is as follows:
 President—Kennedy Crane.
 Secretary-Treasurer—Albert O. Emery.

Clerk—Robert W. Hudson.
 Directors—A. C. McLoon, Vance G. Norton, William H. Glendinning, Jr., Judge Zelma M. Dwinall and Douglas E. Brooks.

Membership Committee—Richard Knowlton, chairman for Rockland; Judge Zelma Dwinall for Camden; Douglas E. Brooks for Thomaston.

The Membership committee, will appoint a larger committee to solicit memberships.
 Greens fees and other fees in connection with the operation of the course would be set by the course operator.

Fire destroyed the home of Avery Sidelinger, just off the North Waldoboro road, four miles from the village, Tuesday. Mr. Sidelinger lost most of his farm tools and two horses, one having been bought only two days ago. Mr. Sidelinger was working for Edwin Miller at the time the fire was discovered by a neighbor.

WARREN
The meditation for communion Sunday to be observed at 10.30 a. m., at the Congregational Church, will be "The Cup of the Lord." Sunday School will meet at 9.30 a. m. Plans are being made to have several of the mothers take part in the special Mothers' Day service, May 9.

Baptist Church Notes
A dedication service for the newly purchased wire recording machine, in use at the Baptist Church, will be held Sunday morning at the church. The first service on the machine will be reproduced for the morning service Sunday, the subject of Rev. Lee A. Perry's sermon, "The New Stand Before God." Included will be suitable Scripture reading and prayer. A special offering will be taken for its use in connection with the machine.

The recorder, demonstrated at a meeting of the Men's Forum by Rev. William Brusby of Friendship, was bought April 1, and money was given by various persons interested, with the assistance of such organizations as the Forum, with the result that the machine was fully paid for within two weeks after the demonstration.

In three weeks, 103 shut-ins of the parish have been privileged to hear it, with favorable comments. In many cases these parishioners have followed the Scripture reading with use of the Bible in their homes, with the machine, and have joined in with the singing of the hymns. There is a sum now held in reserve to buy equipment necessary for use of the two microphones, attached to the recorder. Members of the White-Oak 4-H Club will sing at this morning service.

In the evening will be a union service at the Congregational Church, with Rev. Lee A. Perry, the speaker.

Sunday School will meet at 11.10 a. m.
The annual business meeting will be Saturday night at the church, following a supper for members and families, to be served at 6 p. m., under the chairmanship of Mrs. Jennie Keniston, assisted by Mrs. Robert Wotton.
Young People will attend a Youth Rally, auspices of the Lincoln Baptist Association, to be held Monday at 7.30 at the Baptist Church, Rockport.
The Bible Class will meet tonight at the parsonage.

701.4. OTHER VIOLATIONS. Any person violating any other provision of this Ordinance shall be subject to the general penalty imposed for violation of this Ordinance; however, such person may be fined not more than 50c, to pay the sum of 50c for each violation of any one section of this Ordinance. Such payment shall in no way constitute a bar to the enforcement of a fine or penalty, but on the other hand shall be construed to be an amount which an offender may voluntarily contribute toward the cost and expense of furnishing to the public a less expensive alternative method of regulating and administering traffic law violations. Any violator making such payment shall be given a receipt for every such payment and a copy of such receipt shall be delivered forthwith by the Police Department to the Director of Finance. If however such payment is not made at the office of the Police Chief within 48 hours after notice of such violation is served, by traffic ticket or otherwise, this alternative method is not available or applicable and the penalty provided by this Ordinance shall be imposed.

The Council of the City of Rockland hereby Ordains:
Section 402 of Article 4, Chapter 25, of the Revised Ordinances, is hereby amended by striking out the figure "8" in place thereof the figure "9," and by striking out the figure "8" in the third line thereof and inserting in place thereof the figure "9," and by striking out the figure "10" in the fourth line and inserting in place thereof the figure "9," so that said Section shall read as follows:

Section 402. PARKING TIME LIMITED ON CERTAIN STREETS. When signs are erected in each block giving notice thereof, no person shall park a vehicle for longer than one hour between the hours of 9 a. m. and 6 p. m. Mondays through Fridays, or between the hours 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Saturdays, public holidays excepted, upon any of the streets or parts of streets described in Schedule II attached hereto and made a part of this Ordinance.

County Did Well

In Raising Funds To Combat Infantile Paralysis—Public Thanked

The 1948 fund raising campaign to combat infantile paralysis was very successful in Knox County, according to the report prepared and which has just been completed. With over $3000 having been spent in the treatment of Knox County

MRS. L. E. MOULTON

Alma B. widow of L. E. Moulton, formerly principal of Rockland High School, died in the Central Maine General Hospital, Lewiston, yesterday, at the age of 73 years.

The deceased was born in China July 13, 1870, daughter of Chandler and Olive J. (Allen) Bailey. She graduated from Bates College in 1893 and the following year was married in Monson to Mr. Moulton, who was principal of Rockland High School from 1896 to 1907 serving subsequently as superintendent of Rockland and South Thomaston schools, until 1909. The family moved that year to Auburn where Mr. Moulton became principal of Edward Little High School. His death occurred in 1930.

Mrs. Moulton was a member and deaconess of the Elm street Universalist Church in Auburn.

She is survived by four sons—Edward B. Moulton of Auburn, Ralph C. of La Grange, Ill.; Maynard W. of Auburn; and Francis P. of Chicago. Also surviving are 13 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the Auburn Church Saturday at 2 p. m. interment, in Mt. Auburn cemetery.

cases in 1947, the committee received generous support, the new funds raised this year totaling $2554.20 over and above all expenses.

In accomplishing these great results the Knox County committee, through its chairman, James Connellan, expresses its thanks to the leaders of several groups who conducted the drive for funds.

Among these were the business men and women who conducted the successful March of Dimes Ball, March 17, under the chairmanship of Dr. Wesley N. Wasgatt and the active direction of Edward Mayo, Frederick Newcomb and Almon Cooper, and their various sub-committees.

A new and very effective factor in the drive was the work of the women's committee in several towns, all headed by Mrs. Herbert Miller of Camden, who was assisted by Mrs. Thomas French of Camden; Mrs. Virginia Watkinson and Mrs. Stella Ellingswood of Rockland; and Mrs. Doris Spear of Thomaston. The Women's Division, alone, collected $1305.74.

As usual the schools of Camden, Rockland and Thomaston contributed substantial amounts and were assisted by smaller schools in Cushing and in Washington.

Contributions from many of the clubs, lodges and other groups in the county, and from a number of generous individuals were received and the donor was thanked in an individual letter of appreciation.

This summary report is being offered so that the people of the community may know the results of the 1948 campaign, and the thanks of the Knox County Committee for the March of Dimes is at this time especially expressed to The Courier-Gazette, which, through its editorial comments and news reports, furnished a very strong factor in bringing about the success of the 1948 campaign.

James Connellan, Chairman.

"Years Ago," by actress Ruth Gordon, presented in the Community Building tonight, brings to the road the wonderful people of her childhood, and the very same trials and tribulations that confronted her as an aspiring actress. Family portraits are sharply drawn in the piece. We meet the fiery Clinton Jones, the actress' father, who threw cantaloupes around "because they weren't peaches"—her delightful mother, Annie Jones, who combats the dominant zeals of a father-daughter conflict by quietly reading her "Unity." Of course there is the passionate Ruth Gordon Jones herself who at the time of the play has decided she is just "different" and not "peculiar."

It all takes place in Wollaston, Mass., in a typical conventional American household. There is a

Charles O. Carey has selected a cast to do Miss Gordon justice, an especially difficult job considering the careful demands of the roles in "Years Ago." Mary Gsace Canfield, who scored earlier this season in "Galileo" with Charles Laughton, has been summoned to play the actress, Ruth Gordon. Anne Pollman will recreate the role played on Broadway by Florence Eldridge. Barney Hughes will tackle the major assignment of Clinton Jones in which Frederick March scored.

Thirty-one members of the Garden Club met for luncheon at the Copper Kettle Tuesday. The annual meeting followed the luncheon. The annual reports of the various officers and committee chairmen were read. New officers, as follows, were elected: President, Mrs. George Avery; vice president, Mrs. H. P. Blodgett; treasurer, Mrs. David Beach; secretary, Mrs. Stuart C. Burgess.

Mrs. Frank Carsley reported on a trip she made to the Hyde Memorial Home for Crippled Children at Bath, in response to a call from Mrs. Albert Hanson of Warren, Regional Therapy Chairman. Mrs. Fern Horeysek told of her experiences there while helping Mrs. Carsley entertain the children.

Mention was made of the regional meeting to be held at Belfast May 20.

Rev. Alfred G. Hempstead spoke most interestingly on Welfare Work with the Great Northern Paper Company, which he began in 1924, stating that this period was one of the happiest of his life. He illustrated his talk with stories of actual cases with which he had come in contact and told how he helped each one to help himself. Rev. Mr. Hempstead said he would always have a soft spot in his heart for this corporation for its co-operation in the good work. This talk was doubly appealing to the club members as the son of former president Mrs. Francis Pearson was closely associated with Rev. Mr. Hempstead in this work.

Members present at this meeting were: Mrs. Fred L. Linekin, Mrs. Charles T. Smalley, Mrs. George St. Clair, Mrs. Sanford Delano, Mrs. Admah Morey, Mrs. Arthur Haines, Mrs. David Beach, Mrs. Henry Bird, Mrs. Ida Dondis, Mrs. Joshua Southard, Mrs. Annie Frost, Mrs. Harry Levenseller, Mrs. Oliver Holden, Mrs. A. J. Bird, Mrs. Fern Horeysek, Miss Mabel Pillsbury, Mrs. H. P. Blodgett, Miss Caroline Jameson, Miss Belle Spring, Mrs. Arthur Rokes, Mrs. George Avery, Mrs. Frank French, Mrs. Hector Staples, Mrs. Ralph Wiggins, Mrs. Robert Burns, Mrs. Frank Carsley and Mrs. Charles R. Monteith, and Mrs. Stuart C. Burgess.

Comes Dana E. Brewer Called Here By His Mother's Illness

Dana E. Brewer of Ontario, Calif., is a visitor at his former home in this city called by the illness of his mother, who is convalescing from an attack of pneumonia. He arrived Tuesday and plans to remain until the complete recovery of his mother is assured.

Mr. Brewer brings reports of tremendous activities in California, especially in Los Angeles, where 20,000 persons are said to be arriving each month.

In his own city, whose population has jumped from 7000 to 30,000 in the past 27 years, 5000 new houses have been built.

The cost of living is very high, but there is very little unemployment.

The winter saw excessive heat in the West, resulting in a prolonged drought. There was no rain until April 21, when the skies yielded three or four inches. Water was rationed during the winter.

Especially a lobster advertisement in the local paper. Dana was reminded of the fact that Californians feast on crawfish which sells at 98 cents a pound. The open season is confined to three months.

RUSSELL PORTER A FACTOR

In Construction Of 200-Inch Telescope Mirror For Giant Sky Camera

A feature article in the magazine section of the New York Herald-Tribune (April 18) written by David O. Woodbury, places in limelight of fame, Russell Porter, who is well known in Port Clyde, having married the pastmaster of that town. The account in part reads:

"While a huge new 200-inch telescope mirror recently completed the last leg of its hazardous journey through snow, ice and fog, to the top of Palomar Mountain in California, a little 75-year old man of the universe. Whatever it does, a generous portion of the credit belongs to Russell Porter and his genius for looking at machines with the eye of an artist.

"Porter came on the 200-inch job in 1928. He had no definite assignment. 'What do you want me to do?' he asked Dr. George E. Hale, founder of the project. 'Just be here,' said Hale. Scarcely a day has gone by since that Porter has not had some influence on the final result. He has no title; he is too many things: Architect, designer, philosopher, diplomat and smoother-outter of difficult situations.

"Born in Springfield, Vt., in 1872, Porter learned architecture at M.I.T. Finding no design work to do after college, he went off to the Arctic with Peary on a couple of early expeditions and came back with magnificent sketches of Eskimos and ice. He accompanied two more polar expeditions as artist and meteorologist in the next few years. On the second, the ship was crushed in the ice and Porter, attempting to lead a small party south for help, disappeared. Eventually the main body of the expedition got home. Its commander, Anthony Fiala, organized a new expedition and went in search of his lost men. He found Porter and one other, after they had been marooned on frozen Franz Josef Land for nearly two years.

"The Yankee architect never ventured north of Maine again. He married the postmistress of Port Clyde and settled down to building cottages. But reading an old book, he got interested in telescopes, and made a small telescope mirror. He soon became fascinated with the art and got a job as optical expert in Springfield. Here he built a new kind of reflecting telescope for Ex-Governor Hartness of Vermont, and invented an 'optical comparator,' a precision measuring device.

"At 75, Porter claims he has retired. Actually, he is as busy as ever. When he isn't hunched over his drawing board or driving to Palomar, he's working out strange new optical sundials to ornament his garden and his friends' lawns.

ROCKPORT HAS AN UNIQUE INDUSTRY

Howard Jones, left, and John Larsen, compare a tiny operating model of a pump, held in Jones' left hand, with drawings and advertising material on the machine. Designers require absolute accuracy in scale models of their brain children and sometimes present rather difficult problems for the model makers who have to hit specifications in miniature exactly.

"Personally, he's small and quiet. Deafness (the result of his Arctic experience) only partially corrected gives him an aloofness and preoccupation which keeps people from bothering him unless they really have something to talk about. Up at 7 every morning, he gets his breakfast and slips off to work to return at noon for a bowl of cereal and 'sista'.

"All over the country professional telescope-makers seek Porter's help in making cutaways to visualize their blueprints. But he takes only the cream of the jobs offered.

"After all, his main interest is the 200-inch and it will remain a monument to his skill and devotion for generations to come."

(Russell Porter also gained fame as a member of the Mt. McKinley Expedition. Interviewed by the writer, at Port Clyde, some years ago, he presented evidence showing that Dr. Frederick Cook, the bogus North Pole Explorer, could not have reached the Mt. McKinley summit, as he was claiming to have done at that time. The interview, covering several columns, appeared as a feature story in the Boston Sunday Globe, with pictures obtained from Mr. Porter. Ed.)

Harvey Crockett of Rockport works on a jeweler's lathe to make a part for a working model of a machine which will go into an entire plant layout for a New England industrial concern. Everything in the model maker's business is in miniature and requires more than the usual mechanical skills to turn out the orders which are now coming the way of the Rockport group.

Rockport has a new industry, one which at first glance looks for all the world like a toy shop with grown men playing with little buildings, machines and gadgets of all sorts. The organization is known as Industrial Models, Inc., and deals with the serious business of industrial plant design and arrangement, rather than toys.

Headed by William A. Brown of Swampscott, Mass., as president and treasurer, the company was formed last September and went into operation a month ago. Brown, president of Zurbach Steel of Somerville, Mass., had been looking for a business in Maine for some time. Meeting Howard G. Jones of Rockport, who had moved to Rockport within the year, the idea for a new business in Maine was formed.

Jones, a former designer and model maker for General Motors and Nash-Kelvinators in Detroit and owner of his own business, had moved to Rockport with Mrs. Jones, who was an advertising layout artist. Both had a desire to escape their professions and to engage in their hobbies of ceramics, crafts and art.

"No sooner had he been able to establish a little shop in the town in which to set up his ceramics work than he was in business with Brown and the ceramics project was temporarily set aside and the shop taken over for the first of the industrial model projects.

They explain that the work is concerned with the manufacturing of complete plant layouts for industry, especially the textile manufacturers, from which they and plant engineers can work out the exact location of each building, piece of machinery and all, that the owners may see a complete plant in miniature even before ground is broken for the buildings. They specialize too in the designing of plants already in operation, to give them more efficient operation working closely with engineers to gain the desired results.

Everything is done to exact scale from the lot on which the plant sets, down through the buildings and their contents. One, recently completed was seven feet in length and three feet in width of an entire plant layout including no less than 12 buildings, railroad sidings and storage areas.

The area is laid out on graph paper and to scale and then each building made to scale and set on its exact location in relation to the other buildings and lot. Persons erecting the plant can work from the model and take from it the measurements needed for most any operation they might be carrying on at the moment.

Layouts of the plant interiors call for the manufacture of miniature machinery of every description, set in their exact locations on scale floors together with racks, bins, elevators and all working equipment of the plant. Even the color schemes of the plants, inside and out, are carried out faithfully. The tiny machinery, hand fashioned from wood and metal, looks as if a touch of a tiny switch, which is there, too, would put it in operation.

The opening of the business was scheduled for this Summer but sales coming far ahead of expectations started operations a month ago with two units already having been delivered to the customers. The quarters in Jones' ceramics shop have been outgrown and space has been obtained on the floor over the First National Store in Rockport and moving is now underway.

Associated with Jones and Brown is Walter M. Niles of Melrose, Mass., who is recently out of the Army intelligence service in Italy and who will be engaged in the sales end of the business.

Skilled model makers with the new firm are designer and draftsman Jay Hanna, who moved to Rockport last year from Worcester, Mass., and who was with the aluminum boat division of Camden Shipbuilding for a time prior to entering the new venture. Harvey Crockett of Rockport, skilled in the manufacture of ship models, fits nicely into the business of building plants and machinery in miniature.

Vets' Administration

The Veterans Administration Center in Togus today released the answers to a number of questions asked most frequently by veterans of World War II who have been notified by VA that their claim for disability has been declared service-connected and compensable.

Do disabled veterans receive special rehabilitation assistance? VA's answer is that disabled veterans are eligible for all benefits to which non-disabled veterans are entitled, plus additional subsistence allowance, training and job placement assistance, medical care and other aids.

Another query frequently made about disabled veterans' training calls for a review of the conditions for eligibility. VA says: The veteran must have a discharge other than dishonorable, for wartime service; he must have a compensable service-connected disability and it must be determined that he is in need of special training to overcome the handicap of his disability.

Disabled veterans are not too familiar with the vocational advancement feature of VA's vocational rehabilitation program. The answer, VA states, is that vocational advancement is designed to assist the disabled veteran to discover his capabilities. It also enables the Veterans Administration to help him find the type of training and the particular job in which, taking into account his disability, he is most likely to become rehabilitated.

A VA representative will be in Room 211, Farnsworth Memorial Building, 356 Main street, Rockland, on each Wednesday, to answer additional questions from veterans, as well as to assist them in other matters pertaining to veterans' legislation.

John Larsen of Marblehead, Mass., for many years in industrial model work, completes the present staff of workers. Miniature scale working models of machinery from designers plans are also a feature of the shops. Made in metal or wood and exactly as designed the little machines give the designer an opportunity to study the machine in actual operation before building a standard size working model at great expense.

At present, requests for models from New England manufacturers is keeping the plant busy but there are plans to carry their sales program inland and to the South if and when the plant can handle the extra work.

A great Protestant movement of living together in the love of Christ, has been in progress since the first of April in Portland—"The University of Life," under the auspices of the Council of Churches of Greater Portland. Thirty-seven churches of different faiths are cooperating.

The host church is the First Universalist, High Street. The cost of registration is $1. There is no charge for the lunches which are served free by the Greater Council of Church Women; these were served at 6:15; 300 were served at the Immanuel Baptist, and one lecturer used the auditorium in the sanctuary; and one the Byron Greenough Chapel. All lectures stopped at 7:50 p. m., and then all went to the Universalist Church for the evening service.

It has been an inspiring sight to see 1200 people all together, whether it was pleasant or stormy, in one service, "The Four Lecture Groups." First: by Rev. Martin L. Goslin, minister Franklin Street Church, Manchester, N. H.; April 4, "A Sense of Order;" April 11, "The Plan and Purpose;" April 18, "The Word Became Flesh;" April 25, "The Church and the Kingdom."

Third: Rev. Alexander Winston, April 4, "What Men Live By;" April 11, "The Eight Laws of Jesus' Ethics;" April 18, "Rediscovering Yourself;" April 25, "Faith vs. Fear."

Newell, president Bath Iron Works; April 25, Rev. George M. Berry, superintendent of the Civil League, Waterville, "Alcohol."

Church speakers were: Rev. George H. C. Macgregor, Litt. D.D., New Testament Professor, University of Glasgow, Scotland; and 1948 Carew Lecturer, Hartford Theological Seminary, April 4; April 11, Herbert Georck, Ph.D., D.D., German Baptist Minister, professor of Social Ethics, Anover-Newton Theological School, lecturer Wesleyan College; April 18, Rev. Henry Smith Peiper, D.D., secretary American Committee of the World Council of Churches; April 25, Professor George Johnston, New Testament and Church History, Hartford Theological Seminary, formerly minister of the Martyrs' Presbyterian Church, St. Andrews, Scotland; May 2, union service of music and worship.

Farm Plays Major Part In Upping Nation's Demand For Oil Products

Since 1941, the wide and varied use of oil has increased the demand for every major oil product. One big factor in creating this demand has been the rapid mechanization of the farm during war years. As the heating season closes, the need for gasoline, Diesel and kerosene in ever-increasing quantities for wide use on the farm is in the spotlight.

EVER-INCREASING food production is creating a new major demand for oil which the companies in the oil industry are working on a twenty-four hour, seven-day a week basis to meet. The Oil Industry Information Committee declared this week.

In a statement analyzing current demands for oil as shown by figures recently released by the United States Bureau of Mines, the Committee explained that the oil industry is spending $4,000,000,000 before the end of this year on a two-year postwar program to expand facilities that are now being pushed to the limit by a record demand.

America is using oil at a rate per person 28 times as great as that of the rest of the world with the demand for every major oil product up. The farm has become a major factor in this consumption as mechanization has skyrocketed, it added.

During the abnormally cold winter just past, when oil production was shifted to produce a maximum of fuel oil, not only was the output of the oil used for heating upped 25 percent but overall increased runs upped the output of gasoline 11 percent, the Committee said.

To utilize this increased output of gasoline, there are on the farms this year 3,000,000 tractors operating 15,000,000 implements, almost triple the number of tractors that existed in 1935. It explained. Since that year, it said, the average rate of increase in farm production per year has been seven times what it was formerly. From the time that records start in 1910, farm production increased six tenths of one percent per year on the average up to 1935. Since then it has been increasing 4 percent per year on the average, the committee stated.

There are, it said, 1,880,000 trucks in service on the farms, an increase of 62 percent since 1941 and of 21 percent since the war, while the number of farm automobiles is 4,860,000, also an increase of about 29 percent since the war and oil now does varied jobs from hatching chickens to pumping water.

In 1947, as compared with the prewar peak in 1941, overall increases in demand for oil products to which the farm contributed were gasoline, 21 percent; light fuel and Diesel oil, 73 percent; kerosene, 51 percent; and heavy fuel oil of the type used by industry and ships, 33 percent, the Bureau of Mines figures show.

A Hearing Center Will Soon Be Opened In Portland By The Hearing Society

At Thursday's meeting of the Rockland Hearing Society, announcement was made of the Portland Hearing Center which will soon be opened. Sponsored by the Portland Hearing Society it is an innovation in Maine and will be the only center offering collective hearing aid guidance in the State.

Largely responsible for this forward step, is Miss Eliza C. Hannegan. Others on the committee are Miss Evelyn Whitney, chairman, Mrs. Joseph Wright, Mrs. Austin B. Durgin, Miss Marion Taylor and the Portland Hearing Society president, Mrs. Frank Carr.

The Center will be in charge of Miss Hazel Beecher, R. N., graduate of the Maine Eye and Ear Infirmary School of Nursing. She is now in Boston having a 6-8 weeks' training course at the Boston Guild Hearing Center before taking up her duties in Portland.

A number of hearing aid companies are co-operating with the center by placing their hearing aids in the collection which Miss Beecher will have for demonstration. Only hearing aids approved by the Council of Physical Therapy of the American Medical Association will be accepted.

Miss Beecher will be prepared to make audiograms of her clients, using a standard audiometer. The service aids the person who is bewildered about which hearing aid among those so widely advertised to purchase. For a nominal fee, a client will have the advantage of trying out different instruments in the quietness of the Hearing Center office and comparing their merits.

to Bar Harbor, Portland, Boston, and other East Coast ports.

WASHINGTON AND YOU

By Margaret Chase Smith

Washington, April 28—Hundreds of students have been among the many visitors around Washington during the past week or two. Several schools have come to my office where we have had an opportunity to meet and chat. I am always encouraged when I talk with the younger people because of their questions and discussion of current events.

As has been the custom through the years that I have been in Washington, I invited the D.A.R. delegates and visitors from Maine to have breakfast with me at the Speaker's dining room in the Capitol. Among those joining us were Senator and Mrs. Brewster and Congressman and Mrs. Hale. Speaker Martin came in and said a few words of greeting and visited briefly on his way to his office.

The Armed Services Committees of the House and Senate are very busy on draft and universal military training bills. Long hearings are held, many witnesses for and against the proposals have been talking and before the week is out it is expected there will be a vote taken and a report sent to the House. This is in answer to the statements that the Speaker of the House, Joseph W. Martin, made when he said that national security measures must come first, also that it was expected Congress would adjourn in June and that no other major legislation would be acted upon until decisions were made on defense authorizations and appropriations.

All of this indicates that the President, the Congress, and the military leaders have finally come to realize that the United States must "face up" to Russia. One of the questions most often asked, both by mail and telephone, is why do we continue to trade with Russia under the present circumstances. I have checked with the State Department and talked with many officials and colleagues and from all that I can determine we are trying to keep ourselves in as flexible a position as possible, that is so we can go to war immediately if necessary and at the same time keep ourselves in a position in which we can enter into negotiations for a permanent peace at any such time as Russia shows that she sincerely and earnestly wants permanent peace. In other words, we are trying to prepare ourselves adequately for war if Russia so chooses—at the same time not shutting the door to peace.

To better understand the story, I inquired about our trade with Russia and found that all in all, only .001 of our average monthly exports—or only one out of every thousand exports we have—goes to Russia. In 1947 we sent Russia 3.12 percent of our total exports of electric machinery—5.3 percent of our construction and transportation machinery exports—9 percent of our mining and drilling machinery exports—and 12 percent of our machine tool exports.

On the other side of the ledger, which would give us the imports, are those items which we received in return, we find 22 percent of our total platinum imports—34 percent of our total fur imports—36 percent of our total manganese, and almost one half of our total chrome imports. You will remember that we cannot make our iron into steel without using manganese and we have no substitute for it yet. We hoped urgently that our planned program would stimulate world trade and be the basis for recovery in Europe and throughout the world.

With the antagonistic attitude of Russia, we are faced with whether or not to go ahead with this program or discard it for economic warfare against Russia. At home we are preparing for war, spending billions of dollars on arms, planning revival of the draft, increasing our air force power—while our trade policy abroad is based on the belief that there will be peace. If war comes, supplies to Russia can be cut off quickly because the necessary controls exist. But until the possibility of peace is completely ruled out our trade in Non-Military goods will continue.

HEALTH HINTS for LIVESTOCK

NEW 'HOT SPOTS' FOR BOVINE T.B.

Too many people think that tuberculosis of cattle is a thing of the past in this country.

True, this disease has been pretty well beaten—thanks to an intensive 25-year fight by veterinarians, the Bureau of Animal Industry and livestock owners. No county in the nation reports a ratio of more than one case in every 200 cattle.

But the menace is not dead. New centers of infection have been reported recently and veterinary authorities are afraid we may slacken up too quickly in our efforts to control the disease.

Livestock health authorities throughout the country are active in efforts to finish off the fight against tuberculosis. With co-operation from stock owners, they believe the job can be done. In the meantime, every cattle owner should make sure that his own animals are tuberculosis-free. By doing so, he not only protects his livestock but the health of his own family.

Periodic testing of herds, on a herd or area basis, is the only way to be sure that new and serious flare-ups of bovine T.B. will not occur. In areas where tuberculosis has appeared in recent years, veterinarians are advising yearly tests. In areas long free of the disease, it may not be necessary to make tests oftener than every two or three years.

Following the tests, reactors should be slaughtered. Government funds are available to compensate the owners of the cattle thus destroyed.

Cattle should be tested periodically.

Girl Scouts Newsites

By request of Mrs. Mildred Crie, Commissioner, the annual report of the Senior Scout troop is presented for publication. This will be followed by one troop each week until all the nine troops have been published.

The Senior Girl Scout troop held their first meeting in October when it was voted that a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer be elected and that three elections be held during the year, in order that each girl might serve in an office. The program for the year was drawn up.

In November the Thomaston Senior Scouts were entertained. Miss Edith Steele was the guest speaker. Questions from a question box prepared by Rita Hammond were discussed by Miss Steele.

In December the girls prepared a large box of clothing and toys for Miss Corbett and received a lovely letter of appreciation from her. Some also helped in preparing other boxes of food distributed by Miss Steele.

In January five girls, Rita Hammond, Jo-Ann Champlin, Eunice Pettis, Lucille Tyler and Mary Libby with their leader attended the first Senior Girl Scout Council.

A New Rockland Marble and Granite Works

George C. Perry and son, George C. Perry, Jr., are making excellent progress in remodeling the Lindsey Steet home of the new Rockland Marble & Granite Works.

A remodeling and modernization program is well under way in the well known Lindsey street plant of the Rockland Marble and Granite Works, which has been more or less inactive for several years.

George C. Perry of Bath and his son, George C. Perry, Jr. are the new owners of the property and have embarked on a program of modernization which will be carried through to completion later in the Summer. The interior of the main building has been partitioned off for its new purposes. The stone cutting sheds to the East have been reconitioned and will be used for storage of finished work and unworked stone. The section to the West of the main building has been levelled and is now being utilized for display purposes. The Perrys plan to make a large fill and make the whole section a display area for stones of all types and materials. As one enters the building the office is on the right and in addition to the usual equipment, two certificates inform the reader that George C. Perry is a member of the New England Monument Makers' Association and of the American Association, Inc.

The other section of the front half is devoted to display of samples of the work and materials handled.

Barre granite and marble, (Mr. Perry also holding membership in the Barre Association) and foreign and local granite as well.

The rear section is devoted to workrooms. Two of these use very strong artificial light and are used for sand blast work and the cutting of floral and other designs. The carborundum and other cutting materials work with great accuracy under the extreme pressure and strong light.

The pneumatic tools are used under daylight or fluorescent for evening work. The lettering is done with the letter-rite process under which all letters are exact as to

At the Friday morning session Commissioner Ladd will speak on Zeal for American Democracy, while Dean Shibles will discuss The Changing Task of the Administrator.

A clinic for beginning principals will be conducted in the afternoon under the direction of Clair E. Wood, Waterville; William A. Macomber, Augusta; Clyde E. Mann, Dixfield, and Philip A. Annas of the State Department of Education. Dean Paul Cloke of the College of Technology, University of Maine, will present a brief discussion of pre-engineering inventory tests.

Blind people in Maine, I regret spacing and shape.

George C. Perry, Sr. operates a monument plant in Bath, dividing his time between the two cities. The Rockland plant is in active charge of the son who is on the job every weekday from 7:45 to 5 o'clock. The younger Mr. Perry spent five years in the Pacific area, during and after World War II and had put two years prior to that into the National Guard.

to learn, are being encouraged by a false rumor to save tinfoil, empty paper match folders, empty cigarette cases and even the red cellophane bands on cigarette packages in the vain hope that they may thereby secure Seeing Eye dogs.

Commissioner David H. Stevens of the Health and Welfare Department tells me his department has been receiving inquiries from persons who are saving these articles, thinking to aid a blind person. They claim they have heard authoritatively that from 5000 to 150,000 of these articles are required. Unfortunately, this is a cruel hoax which started a few years ago and has now spread all over the country. It can only bring great disappointment to a blind person, who after months of careful saving of such articles finds out that they have no value whatsoever in determining his eligibility for a Seeing Eye dog. No blind person has ever been denied the Seeing Eye service for lack of funds.

The Department of Health and Welfare will be glad to aid any eligible person in making application for a Seeing Eye dog.

..... The Maine Department of Agriculture announced today the final totals in its Maine Apple Tree Pool, the State-operated purchase of fruit trees for interested growers. Purchases were substantially larger than in recent years, the total reaching 13,384 fruit trees, and 1566 berry plants. About half of the 12,300 apple trees in the pool were of the Roger's McIntosh variety. Purchases included 492 cherry trees and 333 peach trees. The pool is operated by the department in co-operation with the Maine Agricultural Extension Service and the Growers Hardy Stock Nursery Co-operative. Purchases of one and two years old trees were made in New York State and the shipment was brought to Maine by trailer truck early this month.
